XQUISITUS
NEWSLETTER

IN THIS ISSUE:

September 2012

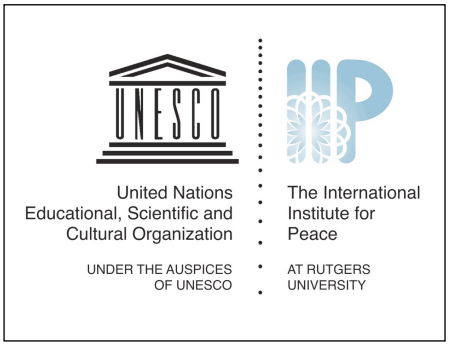
The Black Circle - Jamaican Men a Collector's Choice Exhibition
My Journey to 2012 - An evening with Sebastian Coe and Sir Michael Parkinson at The Dorchester
The Star Diamond Place for Peace Dinner and Auction
The Nicholas Hepworth and Moore Exhibition at Richard Green Gallery
Restaurant Review - Forever Crazy London

Jamaican Men - A Collector's Choice Exhibition

Held at the Twelve Star Gallery Europe House. The Art Jamaica exhibition in June was the first of it kind to be held at Europe house. The private view attracted an enthusiastic international crowd with the ensuing exhibition running for 10 days. The exhibition was well-received with many European visitors viewing the arts. For an exhibition entitled 'Jamaican Men', there are an awful lot of naked women in the show that opened at the 12 Star Gallery at Europe House in Smith Square, Westminster, this evening. But the title refers to the artists, not the subjects, and Jamaica is a famously macho country. It's music (think reggae, think Bob Marley) Read further.

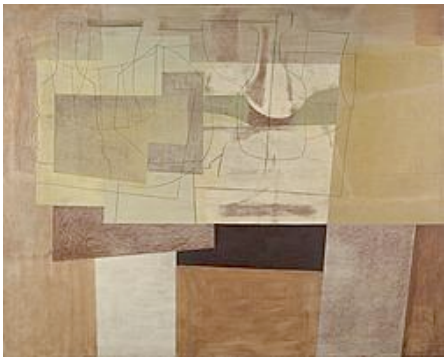
My Journey to 2012 - An evening with Sebastian Coe and Sir Michael Parkinson at The Dorchester

On October 16th Lord Coe will be hosting an exclusive event where he will talk to Sir Michael Parkinson about his journey from Olympic athlete to politician to Chairman of the London Olympic and Paralympic Games.The event will be in support of The PSP Association, a charity that Lord Coe has been actively involved in since his mother was diagnosed with (PSP) and subsequently lost her battle with the disease in 2005. This evening will see one of the most iconic British interviewers and television presenters, Sir Michael Parkinson recreate his popular Saturday night show with Sebastian Coe. Read further.



The Star Diamond Place for Peace Dinner and Auction

On November 10th, Mrs Ella Krasner an Xquisitus member, Forest Whitaker and IIP's other co-founder will host the Star Diamond Place for Peace Dinner and Auction at Banqueting House at the Palace of Whitehall. IIP's objective is to focus on the problem of urban violence and work with people around the world to foster community and peace-building among educators, community and religious leaders, entrepreneurs, local police, and young people affected by violence. The Institute also aims to engage citizens in diplomacy and to encourage them to participate in building peace through research, practice and public engagement. Read further.

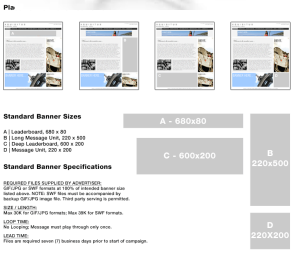


The Nicholas Hepworth and Moore Exhibition at Richard Green

Richard Green is proud to announce that his next exhibition at 33 New Bond Street, opening on October 10 2012, is devoted to Ben Nicholson, Henry Moore and Barbara Hepworth – the three international torchbearers of the British modern movement in the 20th century. They became universally recognised as such when, championed by the critic, Herbert Read, they were selected by the British Council to represent Britain at the Venice Biennale (Moore in 1948, Hepworth in 1950, and Nicholson in 1954), attracting interest from overseas patrons and collectors. Read further.

Restaurant Review - Forever Crazy is in London

Crazy Horse Paris presents Forever Crazy, London's ultimate cabaret entertainment experience. From the stunning purpose-built venue on London's majestic South Bank, Forever Crazy is the height of Parisian decadence – encapsulating over a century of provocative cabaret in one highly contemporary show. Featuring a cast of ten dazzlingly beautiful classically trained dancers, this lavish celebration of femininity, sensuality and creativity takes place against the backdrop of stunning lighting and visual effects. This breathtaking spectacle culminates in a uniquely artistic performance that will leave you longing for more. Read further...



Advertise With Us
Click here to find out more